BASEBALL FANS ARE CHEERING TEAMS AT SEASON'S OPENERS

Rain Threatens To Wash Out Many League Games

NEW YORK, April 16.—One quarter of a million baseball fans will witness the start of the major league pennant races this afternoon if the weather permits, and ten times that number will listen in over the radio to accounts of the opening games.

With rain threatened in at least four of the eight cities in which games are scheduled however, it seemed highly probable that postponements would be in order.

Only in Chicago and Cincinnati was fair weather promised and something akin to the disappointing start which marred the flag races of 1928 was anticipated.

Rain threatened at New York, where the New York Yankees were due to raise the American League pennant as well as that of the world's championship before their scheduled game with the Boston Red Sox.

The New York Yankees presented a changed lineup with Mark Koenig at third and Leo Durocher at shortstop, while Babe Ruth was said to be in a hurry to get down to the little church around the corner to register his marriage vows with Claire Hodgson, a former flapper girl.

Down in Washington, where President Hoover was slated to throw the first ball, the Athletics and the Washington Senators, both with new lineups, were to begin the pursuit of the world's championships.

The Detroit Tigers, under new leadership, take on the Cleveland Indians, one of the clubs in the American League definitely assigned by the experts to a second division berth.

At St. Louis the Browns, picked by some to come through and win the pennant, engaged the Chicago White Sox.

It is generally agreed that the National League race is a more open affair than that in the junior circuit. The New York Giants open at Philadelphia, against a club which has suffered misfortunes during the spring training period when least able to give away anything to its opponents.

The most interesting club in the National League from the point of view of every fan is the Chicago Cubs. Having acquired Rogers Hornsby, the Cubs are hopeful of winning their first pennant in a dozen seasons. They open today against the Pittsburgh Pirates, a most uncertain aggregation.

Boston fans will have a chance to view their National League contenders under the leadership of President Judge Emil Fuchs who also is manager of the Braves. The Brooklyn Robins will be guests in the hub this week.

Cincinnati plays hosts to the St. Louis Cardinals, the 1928 champions.

Leading figures of the national pastime will be on the sidelines. Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball, was scheduled to present gold watches to the New York Yankees in token of their victory in the 1928 world series. President Barnard of the American League will occupy a back seat at Griffith Stadium while President Hoover of the United States throws out the first ball.

The New York Yankees are favorites in the American League, while the New York Giants and the Chicago Cubs are joint favorites in the National League.

MOTHER, SON PERISH IN FLAMES TUESDAY

Woman Succumbs Attempting To Rescue Child; Two Other Boys, Father And Grandfather Are Burned.

COLUMBUS, O., April 16.—Mrs. Wanda Harris, 32, died here today from burns received while attempting to rescue her three sons who were trapped in an upstairs room when fire broke out in their home at Harrisburg.

One of the boys, Harold, aged 4, was burned to death. James, 12, was burned seriously and William, 10, was badly burned but will recover.

Warner Harris, 32, father of the boys, and David Harris, 60, their grandfather, were scorched while carrying Mrs. Harris and the lads to safety.

The fire broke out in an upstairs room where Harold was sleeping with his brothers, Wilbur, 10, and James, 12.

Screams of the boys attracted their parents and their grandfather.

Mrs. Harris was the first to reach the room. As she pushed open the door she tripped and fell over Harold's bed.

By the time Harris and the grandfather reached the room, Harold and his mother were burned fatally and Wilbur was so badly burned he may die.

The two men though painfully burned, carried the boys and Mrs. Harris to a hallway from where neighbors carried them to safety. Harold died a few moments later.

ACCUSED IN DEATH

Samuel Bell, top, wealthy oil operator, has been held without bail at New York City on a homicide charge in connection with the mysterious death of Arthur M. Smith, inset, Cleveland clubman and manufacturer. Police say Bell struck Smith, knocking him down and fracturing his skull, as the two were about to enter a taxi to escort a woman guest home from a party. Bell had denied the charge, maintaining that he merely pushed the clubman.

MISSIONARY DEAD; AMERICAN IS SLAIN BY CHINESE BANDITS

Correspondent and Three Sailors Are Wounded

PEKING, China, April 16.—Fighting in three sections of China had resulted today in the death of one American missionary and the wounding of an American newspaperman and three British sailors.

The Seventh Day Adventist Mission announced today that H. K. White, a missionary stationed at Kweichow, was killed by Chinese bandits while preaching in southwest Kweichow province.

The report gave no details of the bandits' attack.

John Marshall, United Press special correspondent, and three sailors of the H. M. S. Tern were wounded Saturday when the vessel steamed into cross-fire of opposing Chinese factions north of Ichang, on the Yangtze River.

The Tern was among a number of Chinese vessels which were blocked by the heavy firing across the river and later all returned to Ichang.

Americans residing at Changten, Hunan province, were reported in danger from fighting rival factions there. The Americans appealed for gunboats to protect them.

Earlier reports had said the Catholic mission at Changten was looted by bandits and the Asiatic Petroleum Company was wrecked. A man named Gibbs, employed by the Asiatic Company, was wounded during the attack.

The fresh Chinese outbreaks came on the heels of Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek's successful suppression of the Wuhan uprising, which was followed by his announcement that he expected to resign as head of the national government of the republic of China.

HOOVER FARM PLAN IN A NUT-SHELL

President Hoover's agricultural program in a nut shell: Improvement of waterways. Tariff readjustments. Adjustment of production needs through diversification. Improved methods to eliminate waste.

The remainder of the program would be carried out by a federal farm board.

"The administration is pledged to create an instrumentality that will investigate the causes, find sound remedies, and have the authority and resources to apply those remedies.

"Every penny of waste between farmer and consumer that we can eliminate whether it arises from methods of distribution or from hazard or speculation, will be a gain to both farmer and consumer.

"In addition to these special provisions in the direction of improved returns, the board should be organized to investigate every field of economic betterment for the farmer so as to furnish guidance as to need in production, to devise methods for elimination of unprofitable marginal lands and their adaptation to other uses, to develop industrial by products and to survey a score of other fields of helpfulness."

The president's message mentioned no specific figure for the revolving fund to be placed at the disposal of the farm board. The house bill mentions $500,000,000.

RUNNERS STILL RUN BUT PYLE LINGERS

SPRINGFIELD, O., April 16.—While C. C. Pyle remained in Columbus attempt to lift an attachment filed against his motor caravan, the runners competing in his cross-country bunion derby set out today for Richmond, Ind., the seventeenth control station in the race.

Pyle was expected to join the runners in Richmond tonight.

The attachment was served by the sheriff and the cars seized when the runners arrived in Columbus Sunday. The complainant is the New York Chevrolet Corporation which claims Pyle owes $2,100 on the cars.

The promoter was unsuccessful in efforts to lift the attachment yesterday but advised the runners he expected to be on the road with his caravan again today.

Peter Gavuzzi of England, continued in the lead as the derbyists set out for Richmond, Ed. Gardner, Seattle Negro, was in second place.

Elapsed time of the leaders is as follows: Gavuzzi 104 hours and one minute; Gardner 104:59:10; Salo, 110:15:17.

Mike Joyce of Cleveland, trailed towards the end with 143:53:05. Charles Eskins of Ellyria, dropped back near the tail end. No record of his elapsed time was given out.

MEETS

NEARLY HUNDRED AT CHURCH FOR ANNUAL DISTRICT MEETING

Election Scheduled For Afternoon; Banquet Tuesday

With nearly one hundred visiting delegates, the Dayton Presbyterian Society of Missions began its two-day convention at the First Presbyterian Church here Tuesday morning with an executive board meeting at 10:30 scheduled as the only morning business.

The annual election of officers and a number of reports and addresses, including a talk by Miss R. Marie Preston were features scheduled for the afternoon session which got under way at 1:30 o'clock. With local members and visitors in attendance it is expected that approximately 200 people will attend the sessions which close Wednesday afternoon.

The delegates will banquet at the church Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock at which time Mrs. J. P. White, Xenia, is scheduled to speak and a feature of the evening session, to which the public is invited, is a one-act play written by the Rev. W. H. Tilford, pastor of the Xenia church, depicting missionary workers in living pictures.

Fifty members of the Xenia church will take part and the action is described in a dialogue between Mrs. James Wilson III as the modern mother and Mrs. Robert Hawes, her daughter. As they repeat the lines of the play living pictures and stereopticon views will present the missionary figures represented. Special lighting effects have been arranged for effective presentation of the pantomime parts.

Mrs. H. H. Beck, Dayton, president, was in the chair when the afternoon session opened Tuesday and Mrs. W. H. Tilford had charge of the devotions. The delegates and visitors were welcomed by Mrs. Paul D. Espey, Xenia, president of the senior auxiliary of the Xenia church. A number of introductions followed Mrs. Espey's greetings. Mrs. Russell Bussdicker, missionary of the East Persia Missions, with headquarters at Resht, Persia; Mrs. R. Marie Preston, member of the national board and Mrs. William Huston, Columbus, president of the Synodical Society of Missions, responded to introductions.

Hearing of reports, election of officers, appointment of committees and routine business occupied the rest of the session, reports being heard from Mrs. Paul Scheller, Miss Mary Hankinson, Mrs. Paul D. Espey, Mrs. O. T. Corson, Mrs. L. D. Luzzan, and Mrs. Charles Ryan Adams.

Miss Ruth Alexander sang several numbers following the business session and the delegates at 3:15 o'clock, were scheduled to hear Miss R. Marie Preston talk on "Work of the National Board."

Following her address, Miss Lucille Babb and Mrs. George Cogswell were scheduled for reports on "Young People and Children" and the Rev. Paul Davies, Springfield, will address the session on "Materials and Their Use and Methods."

Mrs. Tilford will render several numbers at the Tuesday evening banquet and Miss Zella Soward is scheduled to sing at the evening session.

HERRICK AT REST FOLLOWING RITES

Herrick's body was laid to rest in Lake View Cemetery after simple but impressive services in Trinity Episcopal Cathedral here.

BELIEVE MILLION DOLLAR AUTO THEFT RING SOLVED BY ARREST

TOLEDO, O., April 16.—With the arrest in Detroit of a man known as Mike Akopian, federal officers here today declared a gigantic automobile theft ring had been broken up.

The ring, secret service operatives declared, has disposed of more than $1,000,000 worth of stolen automobiles, scores of which were taken to Findlay, Delphos and Lima and altered in an attempt to evade detection.

The ring thrived in 1927, officers said.

Akopian was indicted secretly here last week on charges of violating the Dyer act which prohibits the interstate transportation of stolen automobiles. He is held in Detroit under $15,000 bond.

Rebels Prepare To Withstand Attack From Federal Army

Reinforce Position In Sonora Hills To Defend City

NOGALES, Ariz., April 16.—Rebel entrenchments on the hills above Nogales, Sonora, were reinforced today in preparation for an expected attack by the federal army from the Naco, Sonora, garrison.

On the order of General Jose Gonzales Escobar, supreme commander of the revolutionary forces, every able bodied man in Nogales was pressed into service of the rebels to aid in strengthening the defenses about the town.

Coinciding with the arrival of 650 men of the Twentieth United States Infantry from Fort D. A. Russell, Wyo., for border patrol, American authorities were advised unofficially that Joe Chenborngen, American resident of Nogales, was held in the Sonora city charged with being a spy.

A report also was received here that B. M. Cole, Nogales, Ariz., aviator, flying for the rebels, crashed near Magdalena, Sonora, Friday, wrecking his plane. The report said Cole and a Mexican flyer who accompanied him, were uninjured.

Escobar's forces suffered the loss of three leaders last night when Lieut. Col. Ovidio Estrada, Congressman Bernabe A. Soto and Crispi Belran, crossed the border and applied at the U. S. immigration service for admission as political refugees.

CONGRESS MESSAGE STRESSES FARM AND TARIFF PROMISES

Marketing System Reorganization Is Emphasized

WASHINGTON, April 16.—A comprehensive legislative program designed to "lay the foundations for a new day in agriculture," was recommended by President Hoover today in his first message to congress.

Other recommendations of the chief executive were:

Limited tariff revision. Reorganization and revitalization of the federal tariff commission, to bring about quicker decisions.

Elimination of the administrative red tape in customs regulations under the existing tariff law.

Repeal of the national origins immigration formula.

Reapportionment of the house of representatives. Provision for the decennial census in 1930.

"I have called this special session of congress to redeem two pledges given in the last election—farm relief and limited changes in the tariff," was President Hoover's opening sentence.

The 2,000 word message was one of the briefest ever sent to congress from the White House.

The farmer's seven year battle cry, "equality for agriculture" was answered by the president's advocacy of a federal farm board "of strength and importance equal to that of those which we have created for transportation and banking."

In a word, the president's program calls for "the reorganization of the marketing system on sounder and more stable and more economic lines." In detail it conforms closely to the bill approved by the house agricultural committee. In general scope and practical aims, it is the McNary-Haugen bill of the last two sessions minus the equalization fee.

Hoover was even more emphatic in what the bill should not contain than in what it should.

"Certain vital principles must be adhered to in order that we may not undermine the freedom of our farmers and of our people as a whole by bureaucratic and governmental domination and interference," he warned.

"We must not undermine initiative. There should be no fee or tax imposed upon the farmer, no

BABE RUTH TO WED FOLLIES GIRL

NEW YORK, April 16.—Babe Ruth may or may not be a married man by tonight.

Babe says he is still single, but he denied his engagement to Mrs. Claire Hodgson almost an hour before he walked into the marriage license bureau yesterday.

Some friends are raising skeptical eyebrows when Ruth tells them the marriage won't come off until "some day this week."

Clerks in the license bureau were closing their ledgers yesterday afternoon when Ruth entered with a demure blonde, who hardly reached to his shoulders, clinging to his arm.

"We want a license," Ruth said to City Clerk Michael Cruise.

After they had filled out the blank and handed it back, it showed that the future Mrs. Ruth was twenty-eight years old, mother of a daughter by her first marriage. Frank Hodgson, her husband, died in 1924.

Everyone knew immediately, of course, that she was the former Clara Merritt, daughter of an Athens, Ga., lawyer and one of the more familiar figures in the Zigzag folios of days gone by. Her face was on billboards all over the country during the World War when she posed for liberty loan posters.

NON-STOCK DEPOSITS

"The Home of Thrift"

Besides the ordinary Running Stock and Paid-Up Stock accommodations usually given by Building Associations, this, and many other Ohio associations, offer the added advantage of non-stock or Special Deposits.

These deposits, in this Association, can be made at any time, and, under ordinary conditions, are withdrawable in whole or in part, at any time, and answer the needs of those who wish to invest their funds where they can obtain them quickly in case of an emergency. Withdrawal between settlement dates entails no loss of interest.

This feature of our business is patronized by a large number of the financially substantial people of this part of Ohio, and by more than seventy other Building Associations and other financial institutions for the investment of their reserve or temporarily idle funds. This business is profitable to us and has contributed much toward the Association's favor and growth. Let us send you a Booklet giving additional information.

EPISCOPAL BISHOP SAYS SUNDAY SHOWS NO HARM TO CHURCH

PORTSMOUTH, O., April 16.—"Sunday moving picture shows do not interfere with the church and do not enter into competition," declared Bishop Theodore Irving Reese, Episcopal Church, diocese of southern Ohio, said here yesterday. Opinions of Bishop Reese were given in view of the fact that the advent of Sunday moving picture shows here has caused considerable comment regarding whether their production was right.

Bishop Reese was here for a short visit. He preached at All Saints Church.

"The great question of the day," Bishop Reese said, "is to take care of the leisure hours of the people. We have more leisure time on Sunday than any other day and it is only human that the people should find something to occupy their time. They do not interfere with the church and cannot be counted as competition."

"If we are to take the law into consideration we should be broad-minded about the subject. The law is old and in most cases obsolete. In larger cities it is found that the Sunday shows are a necessary institution and no attempt is made on the part of the ministers or anyone else to stop them."

"Sunday is a day of life, relaxation and recreation and rest. After a man has discharged his obligation to Almighty God in terms of worship on Sunday the rest of the day ought to be his for his own pleasure and recreation," the Bishop continued.

"It is the one day of the week that the working man can find relief from his work, care and worry. I do not feel that Sunday movies are a menace and I cannot feel that it is wrong for a person to attend Sunday shows."

"The proper keeping of Sunday," declared Bishop Reese in closing, "must come through a change in the hearts and wills of the people and not through legislation."

Sunday moving picture shows have proved a bone of contention in Portsmouth for the last three weeks, following successful attempts to operate. Ministers and churchmen contend they will fight to the finish to eliminate the operation of picture shows on Sunday.

DRINKS POISON BY MISTAKE; RECOVERS

Roy Breakall, 22, Bellbrook Ave., was recovering Tuesday from the effects of drinking by mistake a mixture containing an ounce of carbolic acid at 6 o'clock Monday night.

Following his usual custom after the evening meal, Breakall mixed in a glass some medicine he had been taking but reached for the wrong bottle and by mistake added to the solution an ounce of carbolic acid, which he had previously obtained to treat his hands.

After drinking it, he walked into an adjoining room and suddenly fell unconscious on the floor. Members of his family summoned Dr. Frank M. Chambliss, who administered an antidote. Breakall did not regain consciousness until more than three hours later. However, his chances for recovery are good, Dr. Chambliss said.

CONFESSED SLAYER ADMITS LONG CRIME CAREER TO POLICE

That he had been admitted to the practice of medicine in Michigan and Connecticut and ran a sanitarium at Montclair, N. J.

Allenists bolstered the state's case against Campbell when Dr. Lawrence M. Collins and Dr. Emil Stein examined him and pronounced him sane.

Francis A. Gordon, Campbell's counsel, plans to plead insanity as a defense for his client.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY GOD'S RANSOM—I will ransom them from the power of the grave; I will redeem them from death: O death, I will be thy plagues; O grave, I will be thy destruction: repentance shall be hid from mine eyes.—Hosea 13:14.

INSPIRING HEROISM

When the vicinity of Harriman, Tenn., was swept by a flood recently, 20 people were drowned. And out of the story of that disaster—a story of death and destruction, grim and horrible—there gleam instance after instance of bright heroism, infinitely inspiring. There was, for instance, a 50-year-old river man named Tom Atkins. Tom had a skiff flimsy, leaky contrivance that ordinarily would not be considered safe in a millpond. When the swollen river began uprooting trees, knocking down houses and foaming over roads like a small model of the Niagara rapids, Tom got out his skiff and went out to see what he could do. Trip after trip he made, bringing back each time two or three refugees who had been huddled on some house-top or knoll, waiting for death. Once he was too late. He pulled for a nearly submerged house, on the roof of which perched a woman and her child. Just before he got there the house collapsed, and the woman and child vanished. Somehow Tom kept his cockleshell from going under. He cruised about, hoping that the pair would come to the surface. They did not. So he turned downstream, rowed to a tree top that was just above water, and took four children to safety. In all, he saved the lives of over a dozen people. His own life he risked every time he pushed his boat out on the water. Then there was Bob Underwood. He woke up at midnight to find water rising around his house. Hurriedly he hitched his team and drove his family to the safety of higher ground. Then he turned around and drove off down the road into the valley, to see if he couldn't help some of the neighbors. The water rose too fast. He never came back. There was a girl, too—Grace Whalen, a night telephone operator, who stayed at her switchboard all night, while the river ran through the street outside, and warned the neighborhood of the danger. The flood's toll would have been far higher if she had not ignored her own peril to stay and give those warnings. Things like that are common—the inevitable by-product of any disaster. They are so common they do not even get any great amount of space in the newspapers. These chronicles of heroism get crowded out by more important news.

History records no other instance in which the population has increased so rapidly as in the United States. Some 2,000 years ago King David set out to number the people of Israel and Judah. It took him months and 50 days to make the count, and the returns showed 1,300,000 "valiant men that drew the sword." At the beginning of our own national existence, we took a census approximately equal in magnitude to that taken by King David. The United States marshals, to whom the task was assigned, were allowed 13 months for the enumeration, and returned a total population of a little less than 4,000,000. AND WHEN THE PIE WAS OPENED—

How to Achieve Beauty

Beautiful hands are the distinctive mark of the gentlewoman. Breeding, character and taste are expressed in them—and every woman who cares about the finer aspects of beauty, is particularly about the appearance which her hands present. One rite which most women are faithful about performing is the weekly manicure. And those who find it inconvenient to go to a manicure shop regularly may easily care for their nails at home, themselves. Given proper materials and a little experience in using them, the manicure is not at all the difficult proceeding that it may seem. You should have a flexible steel nail file, emery boards, an orange-wood stick, cotton, a pair of cuticle scissors, buffer, nail brush, cuticle cream or oil, polish and bleach. Here is the technique of the home manicure—a very simple one: First file and shape the nails, going from the corners to the center. In shape they should follow the tips of the fingers—unless the fingers are blunt, when it is better to point them conservatively. Now hold one hand in a bowl of warm soapy water for a few minutes until the cuticle is softened. Then, after drying the hand, take the orange-wood stick, cover the tip with cotton and go over the nails, pushing back the cuticle firmly. Some women prefer to use a liquid cuticle remover on the cotton to hasten the process of removing the cuticle. If the nails or cuticle are stained, the bleaching solution may be used at this point to whiten them. Dip the orange stick into peroxide, or lemon juice or a special solution made of two teaspoonfuls of peroxide, one tablespoonful of rose water and four drops of tincture of benzoin—and gently clean the nails. Next, with the cuticle bleached and pressed back, take the little scissors and clip off any hang-nails or loose bits of skin. Do not use the scissors to cut the cuticle—cutting toughens the skin, causes hang-nails and other troubles. Pushing back the cuticle with the orange stick, or with the towel each time after washing, is a much better method of revealing the little half-moons at the base of the nail and keeping the cuticle delicately rounded. As you finish each nail, rub some of the cuticle cream or oil around it. After all are finished, wash the hands with the nail brush and soapy water. Now polish, using the buffer and a tinted paste or powder polish. Or, if you prefer, apply one of the liquid polishes that go on easily and last for several days. It was simple—was it not? This manicure? Yet simple care like this, taken regularly, will keep your hands well groomed and lovely, always. You should use nightly, a good nourishing cream on the hands, and a bit of cuticle cream or oil around the nails. These will keep the skin and cuticle soft—and smooth—and will greatly add to the well-groomed appearance of the hands.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

WASHINGTON—“Mr. Hoover,” said Congressman Charles I. Estery, of Pennsylvania, “is the first president since George Washington to own a blast furnace.” In Congressman Estery's opinion there could be no higher distinction. The congressman is a connoisseur of blast furnaces. Not the modern, high power type, the Pennsylvania is a hosiery magnate; not a captain of the iron and steel industry. His interest is in obsolete blast furnaces, dating back to the revolutionary period or earlier. It is the sort of sort of interest that an Egyptologist feels in obelisks and pyramids. On the subject of century-old blast furnaces, as antiquities, the congressman is recognized as the country's foremost authority. Senator Lawrence C. Phelps of Colorado, himself a former Pennsylvanian, made his millions as a high official of the Carnegie company, but he admits that Congressman Estery can give him cards, spades and little casino, and still beat him in a discussion of the methods of the ironmasters of the Bunker Hill-to-Yorktown era. Often, even, than he is spoken of as Congressman Estery of Pennsylvania. It is the fourteenth Keystone district representative referred to as “Estery of Sully Ann Furnace”—just as we read about John Randolph of Roanoke. United States is now increasing at the rate of about 1,500,000 persons per year, or approximately one person every 22 seconds. The essential thing which the president thought he was getting was the fishing rights in Huntington creek—reputedly a wonderful trout stream. Maybe he also set some store by the big marble house on the place, dating in part from 1781 and formerly the home of Thomas Johnson, Maryland's first governor. He appears never to have heard of the furnace when Richard took the estate over for him. Congressman Estery speedily enlightened him. Estery was as little likely not to have known all about it as a collector of race stones would be not to be acquainted with the whole history of the Kohinor.

Household Hints By MRS. MARY MORTON MENU HINT BREAKFAST Sliced Oranges and Bananas Walnuts and Maple Syrup Toast Coffee LUNCHEON Baked Macaroni and Cheese Buttered Asparagus Tips Lettuce with Green Onions French Dressing Molasses Cookies Milk DINNER Cream of Spinach Soup Mashed Potatoes and Small Sausage on Casserole Brussels Sprouts with Drawn Butter Sauce Grape Fruit Salad Maple Custards Coffee If you can make the breakfast waffles at the table so much the better. The menu was planned for two or three people. Today's Recipes. Asparagus Tips—Wash the asparagus and cut off the tough ends. Cook in a little salted water until tender. Place stalks on individual hot plates. Sprinkle with salt and paprika. Pour over a generous amount of melted butter. Serve at once. Sausage and Mashed Potatoes. Sausages. Partly cook tiny sausages. Drain off the fat. Add to mashed potatoes enough flour to enable it to be rolled. Roll as thin as pie crust. Cut into pieces the size of small turnovers. Place sausage in each, roll, turn up edges and fasten. Place, in casserole, bake in good oven until potatoes are a delicate brown. Grape Fruit Salad—Make a bed of lettuce, arrange four whole sections of grape fruit on it, in points radiating from center. In the space between sections of grape fruit place large grapes, seeded, and stuffed with English walnuts. Place mayonnaise in center, topped with half walnut meat. SUGGESTIONS Lamp Shades Require Bath. In order to retain the full beauty of silk lamp shades, they should be dusted frequently with a soft, feathered brush. When they become too soiled to give further service as decorations, do not hesitate to wash them in soap and water. First, remove all metal braids and fringes or other unwashable trimmings and brush or shake out as much of the dust as possible. Prepare a tub of lukewarm water with a generous lather of mild soap suds, then plunge the shade in and out, replacing the suds with clean water and a fresh supply of suds as often as is necessary. If the shade has faded, either before or during the washing process, add a little coloring matter to the final rinsing water. Absorb as much of the moisture as possible by patting the shade with a clean, soft cloth, and hang it up to dry in a warm place. When the trimmings are replaced, the lamp shade will be restored. THE ONE-MINUTE PULPIT I have chosen the way of truth; thy judgments have I laid before me. I have stuck unto thy testimonies: O Lord, put me not to shame. I will run the way of thy commandments, when thou shalt enquire my heart.—Psalm cxix, 30-32.

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS M. D. Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

High Heels Cause Ugly Legs "A question has come up in our class about high heels. Will you please tell me what you think of them? Do they injure the feet and are they harmful to the health?" I am going to answer you by quoting from an article from the Journal of the American Public Health Association, by Merchant and Cranor, on the effect of various types of shoes upon the feet and posture of high school girls. "An experiment to determine the effect of various types of shoes upon the feet and posture of high school girls was carried on by the authors, in co-operation with the departments of physical education of the high schools of Ames, Iowa. Three hundred and sixty-eight high school girls participated in the experiment. "Shoes were examined as to type, and measured; feet were measured and examined for defects; and footprints were taken. "To determine the relation of posture to shoes, schematic pictures of back and side views were made of 167 senior girls. "X-Ray pictures were made of normal and defective feet with and without shoes, and of feet when both low and high heels were worn. X-Rays were also made to determine the effect of high heels upon the position of the bones of the pelvic region. "Posture defects noted among 42 girls wearing high heels: 36 neck bent forward. 32 protruding abdomen. 42 narrow curve between shoulder and hip. X-Ray pictures indicate a tilt of 40 degrees in pelvis when extremely high heels were worn. Muscles in upper leg not exercised, muscles in lower leg over-exercised, shape of leg spoiled by the muscles being pushed to back of calf. "Posture in every instance was better in bare feet than with high heels. Eighty-nine per cent of the girls having good feet had good posture." So you see, D., aside from causing ugly legs, over-high heels also cause a poor posture. The correct posture helps the organs of the trunk and chest to hold their normal positions—in which they function much better, naturally—so it has a great deal to do with normal health. "That again, wrong posture causes strain on the trunk muscles and many cases of backache are attributable to it. Eventually curvature of the spine may result. "The 'peg' heels are not only responsible for a lot of ills, but they cause a lot of accidents. Most shoe dealers, nowadays, carry their best looking shoes with peg heels attached. In trying to get a pair of moderately heeled shoes the other day, I commented on this fact to the dealer and he said they had to do so because the women demanded them! This may be true in part; but the chief reason women demand them is that they want to be in style. And these shoe dealers, as well as other dealers in women's apparel, make models simply to increase trade. However, when it becomes generally known that damage can be done by the steady wearing of these very highheeled shoes, I think the girls and women will get up in arms and demand the manufacture of more of the sensible ones. Living and Loving

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

I saw such a subdued little woman the other day. She was small and droll and so was dressed in dark clothes so that one could hardly tell where she left off and the garments began. She looked typical of the kind of person you always remember with an effort, and invite her cause hatred, but she had a heartily down-to-earth, and she adds to the joy of nations. Such people seem bound to be snubbed and left out of things, and they so forlorn they invite more kicks, for few people have much patience with the heartily down-to-earth. I only have known one young woman who capitalized her woes and "got away with it." She was very charming, but utterly without a sense of humor, and she appealed to men by confiding her woes to them. They longed to comfort her. Few of us can afford to go about in tears, however. Our noses get red and we appeal neither to men or women. If we can cultivate whatever sense of fun the Lord endowed us with, and use our heads to find ways out of difficulties we are much more likely to be popular. Life gives us many wallows. Sometimes she knocks us down with one blow and then proceeds to give us several kicks until we feel we never can rise again, but we can. It is surprising what the human heart can stand. "DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: We have been going together for three years and are engaged. He was very nice to me, but of late he sulks most of the evening or goes to sleep. He has a terrible temper and drinks but is a good worker, but very CLOSE. He never takes me anywhere but to the pictures once a week. If I go with him to the pictures out of town I always pay the way. He never treats me afterwards. He never came to see me Easter or called up. Please tell me what you think. Am 21 years old and have a good position. My father says we will not be happy. Have a nice home. SALLY." I think your father is absolutely right, Sally. The sooner you break your engagement and get a real man to go with the better. Peter's Adventure

By MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

THE TURKEY WHO TURNED TRAITOR If Peter was surprised to find Gander at his side, he was still more surprised at Gander's remark. "What have you heard, that you speak like that?" Peter demanded. "I don't know anything, really," admitted Gander. "But I suspect something," he said, "this morning, with my very own eyes, I saw Gobbler marching along with a crowd of Turkeys; they went right by the bargeyard fence." "On their way to market?" chimed in one of the Geese with Gander. "Of course! I thought that at once!" interrupted Gander. "When I was a young fellow I knew a leader! He'd be too! Most deceitful chap! Why, he would go from barnyard to barnyard, making friends with all the Gobblers, and then one morning when the frost was on the pumpkin, he would invite them all to go for a walk, and he would lead them up hill and down, wouldn't tell them where he was going, but promised them all sorts of fine things when he got there. And where do you suppose he led them?" "Where?" cried Peter and the Wild Goose, both much excited. "Straight to the block to have their heads chopped off!" declared Gander. "That leader was a traitor to his family. He was trained by the Two-Legs to lead Turkeys to their death, and he always did it, too." "You see, being a Turkey himself, his kind trusted him and followed willingly at his heels. And for their faith in him they lost their lives. I have heard it said"—here Gander stretched out his neck until his beak alighted on the boy's ear, and hissed: "I have heard it said that the Two-Legs took those Turkeys and after their heads were gone served them up for dinner." Peter had been thinking deeply all the time that Gander had been talking, and now he cried out suddenly: "Yesterday was Thanksgiving! Poor, poor old Gobbler! It really turned out to be a sad day for him, just as he was always afraid it would be!" Next: "Gobbler Returns."

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

INSPIRING HEROISM

When the vicinity of Harriman, Tenn., was swept by a flood recently, 20 people were drowned. And out of the story of that disaster—a story of death and destruction, grim and horrible—there gleam instances after instance of bright heroism, infinitely inspiring.

There was, for instance, a 50-year-old river man named Tom Atkins. Tom had a skiff flimsy, leaky contrivance that ordinarily would not be considered safe in a millpond. When the swollen river began uprooting trees, knocking down houses and foaming over roads like a small model of the Niagara rapids, Tom got out his skiff and went out to see what he could do.

Trip after trip he made, bringing back each time two or three refugees who had been huddled on some housetop or knoll, waiting for death.

Once he was too late. He pulled for a nearly submerged house, on the roof of which perched a woman and her child. Just before he got there the house collapsed, and the woman and child vanished. Somehow Tom kept his cockleshell from going under. He cruised about, hoping that the pair would come to the surface. They did not. So he turned downstream, rowed to a tree top that was just above water, and took four children to safety.

In all, he saved the lives of over a dozen people. His own life he risked every time he pushed his boat out on the water.

Then there was Bob Underwood. He woke up at midnight to find water rising around his house. Hurriedly he hitched his team and drove his family to the safety of higher ground. Then he turned around and drove off down the road into the valley, to see if he couldn't help some of the neighbors. The water rose too fast. He never came back.

The flood's toll would have been far higher if she had not ignored her own peril to stay and give those warnings.

Things like that are common—the inevitable by-product of any disaster. They are so common they do not even get any great amount of space in the newspapers. These chronicles of heroism get crowded out by more important news.

Beautiful hands are the distinctive mark of the gentlewoman. Breeding, character and taste are expressed in them—and every woman who cares about the finer aspects of beauty, is particularly about the appearance which her hands present.

One rite which most women are faithful about performing is the weekly manicure. And those who find it inconvenient to go to a manicure shop regularly may easily care for their nails at home, themselves. Given proper materials and a little experience in using them, the manicure is not at all the difficult proceeding that it may seem.

You should have a flexible steel nail file, emery boards, an orange-wood stick, cotton, a pair of cuticle scissors, buffer, nail brush, cuticle cream or oil, polish and bleach.

Here is the technique of the home manicure—a very simple one.

First file and shape the nails, going from the corners to the center. In shape they should follow the tips of the fingers—unless the fingers are blunt, when it is better to point them conservatively.

Now hold one hand in a bowl of warm soapy water for a few minutes until the cuticle is softened. Then, after drying the hand, take the orange-wood stick, cover the tip with cotton and go over the nails, pushing back the cuticle firmly. Some women prefer to use a liquid cuticle remover on the cotton to hasten the process of removing the cuticle. If the nails or cuticle are stained, the bleaching solution may be used at this point to whiten them. Dip the orange stick into peroxide, or lemon juice or a special solution made of two teaspoons of peroxide, one tablespoon of rose water and four drops of tincture of benzoin—and gently clean the nails.

Next, with the cuticle bleached and pressed back, take the little scissors and clip off any hang-nails or loose bits of skin. Do not use the scissors to cut the cuticle—cutting toughens the skin, causes hang-nails and other troubles. Pushing back the cuticle with the orange stick, or with the towel each time after washing, is a much better method of revealing the little half-moons at the base of the nail and of keeping the cuticle delicately rounded.

As you finish each nail, rub some of the cuticle cream or oil around it. After all are finished, wash the hands with the nail brush and soapy water. Now polish, using the buffer and a tinted paste or powder polish. Or, if you prefer, apply one of the liquid polishes that go on easily and last for several days.

It was simple—was it not? This manicure? Yet simple care like this, taken regularly, will keep your hands well groomed and lovely, always.

You should use, nightly, a good nourishing cream on the hands, and a bit of cuticle cream or oil around the nails. These will keep the skin and cuticle soft—and smooth—and will greatly aid to the well-groomed appearance of the hands.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—“Mr. Hoover,” said Congressman Charles J. Estery, of Pennsylvania, “is the first president since George Washington to own a blast furnace.”

Congressman Estery's opinion there could be no higher distinction.

The congressman is a connoisseur of blast furnaces. Not the modern, high power type. The Pennsylvania is a hosiery magnate; not a captain of the iron and steel industry. His interest is in obsolete blast furnaces, dating back to the revolutionary period or earlier.

It is the same sort of interest that an Egyptologist feels in obelisks and pyramids.

On the subject of century-old blast furnaces, as antiquities, the congressman is recognized as the country's foremost authority.

Senator Lawrence C. Phelps of Colorado, himself a former Pennsylvania, made his millions as a high official of the Carnegie company, but he admits that Congressman Estery can give him cards, spades and little can, and still beat him in a discussion of the virtues of the ironmasters of the Bunker Hill-to-Yorktown era.

Often, even, than he is spoken of as Congressman Estery of Pennsylvania, is the fourteenth Keystone district representative referred to as “Estery of Saily Ann Furnace”—just as we read about John Randolph of Roanoke.

United States is now increasing at the rate of about 1,500,000 persons per year, or approximately one person every 22 seconds.

Today's Recipes.

Asparagus Tips—Wash the asparagus and cut off the tough ends. Cook in a little salted water until tender. Place stalks on individual hot plates. Sprinkle with salt and paprika, pour over a generous amount of melted butter. Serve at once.

Sausage and Mashed Potatoes—Sauté. Partly cook tiny sausages. Drain off the fat. Add to mashed potatoes enough flour to enable it to be rolled. Roll as thin as pie crust. Cut into pieces the size of small turnovers. Place sausage in each roll, turn up edges and fasten. Place in casserole, bake in good oven until potatoes are a delicate brown.

Grape Fruit Salad—Make a bed of lettuce, arrange four whole sections of grape fruit on it, in points radiating from center. In the space between sections of grape fruit place large grapes, seeded, and stuffed with English walnuts. Place mayonnaise in center, topped with half walnut meat.

SUGGESTIONS

Lamp Shades Require Bath. In order to retain the full beauty of silk lamp shades, they should be dusted frequently with a soft, feathered brush. When they become too soiled to give further service as decorations, do not hesitate to wash them in soap and water. First, remove all metal braids and fringes or other unwashable trimmings and brush or shake out as much of the dust as possible. Prepare a tub of lukewarm water with a generous lather of mild soap suds, then plunge the shade in and out, replacing the soiled suds with clean water and a fresh supply of suds as often as is necessary.

If the shade has faded, either before or during the washing process, add a little coloring matter to the final rinsing water. Absorb as much of the moisture as possible by patting the shade with a clean, soft cloth, and hang it up to dry in a warm place. When the trimmings are replaced, the lamp shade will be restored.

High Heels Cause Ugly Leers

"A question has come up in our class about high heels. Will you please tell me what you think of them? Do they injure the feet and are they harmful to the health?" D.

I am going to answer you by quoting from an article from the Journal of the American Public Health Association, by Merchant and Crum, on the effect of various types of shoes upon the feet and posture of high school girls.

"An experiment to determine the effect of various types of shoes upon the feet and posture of high school girls was carried on by the authors, in co-operation with the departments of physical education of the high schools of Ames, Iowa. Three hundred and sixty-eight high school girls participated in the experiment.

"Shoes were examined as to type, and measured; feet were measured and examined for defects, and footprints were taken. To determine the relation of posture to shoes, cinematograph pictures of back and side views were made of 167 senior girls.

"X-ray pictures were made of normal and defective feet with and without shoes, and of feet when both low and high heels were worn. X-rays were also made to determine the effect of high heels upon the position of the bones of the pelvic region.

"Posture defects noted among 42 girls wearing high heels: 36 neck bent forward, 32 protruding abdomen, 42 narrow curve between shoulder and hip.

"X-ray pictures indicates a tilt of 40 degrees in pelvis when extremely high heels were worn, muscles in upper leg not exercised, muscles in lower leg over-exercised, shape of leg spoiled by the muscles being pushed back of calf.

"Posture in every instance was better in bare feet than with high heels. Eighty-nine per cent of the girls having good feet had good posture."

So you see, D., aside from causing ugly leers, over-high heels also cause a poor posture. The correct posture helps the organs of the trunk and chest to hold their normal positions—in which they function much better naturally—so it has a great deal to do with normal health. Then again, wrong posture causes strain on the trunk muscles and many cases of backache are attributable to it. Eventually curvature of the spine may result.

"The peg" heels are not only responsible for a lot of flimsy, but they cause a lot of accidents.

Most shoe dealers, nowadays carry their best looking shoes with peg heels attached. In trying to get a pair of moderately heeled shoes the other day, I dealer and he said they had to do so because the women demanded them! This may be true in part; but the chief reason women demand them is that they want to be in style. And these shoe dealers, as well as other dealers in women's apparel, make their new styles and change the models simply to increase trade. However, when it becomes generally known that damage can be done by the steady wearing of these very highheeled shoes, I think the girls and women will get up in arms and demand the manufacture of more of the sensible ones.

Living and Loving

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

I saw such a subdued little woman the other day. She was small and dainty and so was dressed in dark clothes so that one could hardly tell where she left off and the garments began. She looked typical of the kind of person you always remember with an effort, and invite because her feelings will be hurt if you don't, not because she adds to the joy of nations.

Such people seem bound to be snubbed and left out of things, and they so forlorn they invite much pity, for few people have much patience with the haughty, down-trodden. I only have known one young woman who capitalized her woes and "got away with it." She was very charming, but utterly without a sense of humor, and she appealed to men by confiding her woes to them. They longed to comfort her.

Few of us can afford to go about in tears, however. Our noses get red and we appeal neither to men or women. If we can cultivate whatever sense of fun the Lord endowed us with, and use our heads to find ways out of difficulties we are much more likely to be popular. Life gives us many wallows. Sometimes she knocks us down with one blow and then proceeds to give us several kicks until we feel we never can rise again, but we can. It is surprising what the human heart can stand.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: We have been going together for three years and are engaged. He was very nice to me, but of late he sulks most of the evening or goes to sleep. He has a terrible temper and drinks, but is a good worker, but very CLOSE. He never takes me anywhere but to the pictures once a week. If I go with him to the pictures out of town I always pay the way. He never treats me afterwards. He never came to see me Easter or called up. Please tell me what you think. Am 21 years old and have a good position. My father says we will not be happy. Have a nice home. SALLY."

I think your father is absolutely right, Sally. The sooner you break your engagement and get a real man to go with the better.

Peter's Adventure

By MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

THE TURKEY WHO TURNED TRAITOR

If Peter was surprised to find Gander at his side, he was still more surprised at Gander's remark.

"What have you heard, that you speak like that?" Peter demanded.

"I don't know anything, really," admitted Gander. "Let I suspect something, he other morning, with my very own eyes, I saw Gobbler marching along with a crowd of turkeys, they went right by the barnyard fence."

"On their way to market?" chimed in one of the Geese with Gander.

"Of course! I thought that at once!" interrupted Gander. "When I was a young fellow I knew a leader. He had a good idea of the market. Why, he would go from barnyard to barnyard, making friends with all the Gobblers, and then one fine morning, when the first was on the pumpkin, he would invite them all to go for a walk, and he would lead them up hill and down, wouldn't tell them where he was going, but promised them all sorts of fine things when he got there. And where do you suppose he led them?"

"Where?" cried Peter and the Wild Geese, both much excited.

"Straight to the block to have their heads chopped off!" declared Gander. "That leader was a traitor to his family. He was trained by the Two-Legs to lead turkeys to their death, and he always did it, too."

"You see, acting a Turkey himself, his kind trusted him and followed willingly at his heels. And for their faith in him they lost their lives. I have heard it said"—here Gander stretched out his neck until his beak almost touched the boy's ear—and hissed: "I have heard it said that the Two-Legs took those turkeys and after their heads were gone served them up for dinner."

Peter had been thinking deeply all the time that Gander had been talking, and now he cried out suddenly:

giving! Poor, poor old Gobbler! It really turned out to be a sad day for him, just as he was always afraid it would be!"

Next: "Gobbler Returns."

FRAMED

The Chicago Cubs, they say, are over-rated.

At least, surprisingly enough, that is what a majority of the baseball writers think. It is felt that the New York Giants are the best bet to win the National League pennant.

Some of the boys are hinting that even though Rogers Hornsby will unquestionably add strength to what was already the greatest offensive power in the National League, life may not be a path of roses for the Cubs this season. They are wondering if everything will go smoothly, if the team will pull together. Some of the boys have their doubts.

The Cubs, they say, were over-rated before Hornsby's addition was taken into consideration and that, well, anyway, the acquisition of "The Rajah" cannot be considered 100 per cent profit to the club.

The American Ryder Cup team is preparing to go into action against the British professional team trophy, which will start at Moortown, Leeds, in England, April 27, and which will inaugurate a series of British golfing features which have attracted many crack American players this year.

The British open championship comes a few days after the completion of the Ryder Cup play and Walter Hagen will defend his title, starting May 6, at Muirfield. After this comes the Ladies' Open at St. Andrews in which our own Helen Collett, Marion Hollins and Helen Hicks are entered. The British amateur championship, which is of less interest to Americans since Bobby Jones and Jess Sweetser quit winning it, or trying to, comes the week of the 27th at Sandwich, scene of Hagen's triumph in the open tournament last spring.

There is many a slip and it is by no means certain that the American professionals who make up our Ryder Cup team will win at Moortown, regardless of the fact Captain Diegel and his mates have competitive records far better than those of their opponents.

If memory serves correctly, once before at Wantworth, the visiting Americans were handed a terrific walloping by the British Ryder coppers. At Worcester, revenge was obtained, but it is obvious that there is a certain advantage of playing upon one's home soil.

The American team will be composed of four veterans in Hagen, Diegel, Farrell and Sarazen, with the help of Horton Smith, Willie Klein, Ed Dudley and possibly Al Espinoza. It will not have long to become acclimated.

Among other able professionals, the British will have to choose from George Duncan, Alex Mitchell, Archie Compston, Aubrey Boomer, and the three golfing Whitecombes from the west of England.

DISPLAY ATHLETIC TROPHIES AT SCHOOL

Athletic trophies won by Xenia Central High School teams over a period of years since 1914 are now being displayed at the high school in a new trophy case.

The case was removed from the old high school building when the structure was razed and has been re-finished.

There are seven trophies in the possession of the school, including silver playing cups awarded Xenia basketball teams which participated in county tournaments years ago when these annual events were sponsored by Antioch College.

School authorities announce that the school will be glad to accept for purposes of display any other old trophies or interesting historical data belonging to the school, in the possession of Xenians.

AMERICAN LEGION TEAM WANTS GAMES

George E. Dignam Post, No. 526, American Legion, which is sponsoring a junior baseball program again this year in the community of Fairfield and Osborn, desires to arrange games with any team from Xenia within the age limit.

Any Xenia teams within these age limits desiring games are requested to get in touch with Glen R. Johnson, Box No. 202, Fairfield. The games would be played at Osborn or a home and home series would be arranged.

Your Poultry Profits

The quickest, cheapest, and best way to develop a profitable poultry flock is to start with good baby chicks and grow your own pullets. It is much less trouble to come or send to the hatchery and get just the number of chicks you want at the time you are ready for them than it is to set hens or incubators and wait three weeks to see what will happen. There are many advantages in getting enough chicks at one time to fill your brooder house and have the chicks all of the same age.

Buy Townsley Accredited Chicks hatched from blood tested hens and you will save time, worry and money, and have better success.

The Chicago Cubs, they say, are over-rated.

At least, surprisingly enough, that is what a majority of the baseball writers think. It is felt that the New York Giants are the best bet to win the National League pennant.

Some of the boys are hinting that even though Rogers Hornsby will unquestionably add strength to what was already the greatest offensive power in the National League, life may not be a path of roses for the Cubs this season. They are wondering if everything will go smoothly, if the team will pull together. Some of the boys have their doubts.

The Cubs, they say, were over-rated before Hornsby's addition was taken into consideration and that, well, anyway, the acquisition of "The Rajah" cannot be considered 100 per cent profit to the club.

The American Ryder Cup team is preparing to go into action against the British professional team trophy, which will start at Moortown, Leeds, in England, April 27, and which will inaugurate a series of British golfing features which have attracted many crack American players this year.

The British open championship comes a few days after the completion of the Ryder Cup play and Walter Hagen will defend his title, starting May 6, at Muirfield. After this comes the Ladies' Open at St. Andrews in which our own Glenna Collett, Marion Hollins and Helen Hicks are entered. The British amateur championship, which is of less interest to Americans since Bobby Jones and Jess Sweetser quit winning it, or trying to, comes the week of the 27th at Sandwich, scene of Hagen's triumph in the open tournament last spring.

There is many a slip and it is by no means certain that the American professionals will make up our Ryder Cup team will win at Moortown, regardless of the fact Captain Diegel and his mates have competitive records far better than those of their opponents.

If memory serves correctly, once before at Wantworth, the visiting Americans were handed a terrific walloping by the British Ryder coppers. At Worcester, revenge was obtained, but it is obvious that there is a certain advantage of playing upon one's home soil.

The American team will be composed of four veterans in Hagen, Diegel, Farrell and Sarazen, with the help of Horton Smith, Willie Klein, Ed Dudley and possibly Al Espinoza. It will not have long to become acclimated.

Among other able professionals, the British will have to choose from George Duncan, Abe Mitchell, Archie Compston, Aubrey Boomer, and the three golfing Whitcombes from the west of England.

DISPLAY ATHLETIC TROPHIES AT SCHOOL

Athletic trophies won by Xenia Central High School teams over a period of years since 1914 are now being displayed at the high school in a new trophy case.

The case was removed from the old high school building when the structure was razed and has been re-finished.

There are seven trophies in the possession of the school, including silver loving cups awarded Xenia basketball teams which participated in county tournaments years ago when these annual events were sponsored by Antioch College.

School authorities announce that the school will be glad to accept for purposes of display any other old trophies or interesting historical data belonging to the school, in the possession of Xenians.

AMERICAN LEGION TEAM WANTS GAMES

George E. Dignam Post, No. 526, American Legion, which is sponsoring a junior baseball program again this year in the community of Fairfield and Osborn, desires to arrange games with any team from Xenia within the age limit.

The Fairfield and Osborn legion post has divided its teams into two groups, one group having an age limit of 16 years, and the other with an age limit of 14 years. Any Xenia teams within these age limits desiring games are requested to get in touch with Glen R. Johnson, Box No. 202, Fairfield. The games would be played at Osborn or a home and home series would be arranged.

BABY CHICKS DIE

The loss is estimated to be about $800. Mr. Lavin does not contemplate going back into the business. His future plans have not been announced.

Your Poultry Profits

The quickest, cheapest, and best way to develop a profitable poultry flock is to start with good baby chicks and grow your own pullets. It is much less trouble to come or send to the hatchery and get just the number of chicks you want at the time you are ready for them than it is to set hens or incubators and wait three weeks to see what will happen. There are many advantages in getting enough chicks at one time to fill your brooder house and have the chicks all of the same age.

Buy Townsley Accredited Chicks hatched from blood tested hens and you will save time, worry and money, and have better success.

MR. GRAND UNION HIMSELF!

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., April 16.—A tall, glib, well-dressed stranger walked into one of the Grand Union Grocery Company's stores here just before closing time recently and confronted Thomas Rice, the manager.

"I am general manager of these stores," he said. "Our manager at the Albany Street store has just been discharged, and I want you to go and relieve him. I'll stay in your place."

Rice entered the taxicab the stranger had just quitted and left.

Immediately the "general manager" ordered a delivery boy to close the store and, stepping behind the cash register, helped himself to a bag containing $103, the day's receipts.

Explaining the unique theft to his superiors later, Rice said, "The man was tall and impressive. I thought he really was one of our general managers."

CONGRESS MESSAGE STRESSES FARM AND TARIFF PROMISES

governmental agency should engage in buying and selling and price fixing of products, for such courses can lead only to bureaucracy and domination. Government funds should not be loaned, or facilities duplicated, where other services of credit and facilities are available at reasonable rates. No activities should be set in motion that will result in increasing the surplus production, as such will defeat any plans of relief.

The plan should be worked out, he added, through "farmer-owned and farmer-controlled agencies."

"The most progressive movement in all agriculture has been the upbuilding of the farmer's own marketing organizations, which now embrace nearly 2,500,000 farmers in membership and annually distribute nearly $2,500,000,000 worth of farm products. In order to strengthen and not undermine them, all proposals for government assistance should originate with such organizations and be the result of their application."

Hoover's recommendations for sweeping changes in the administration of the tariff laws was a surprise to political observers. Likewise his admonition against general tariff tinkering was more vigorous than had been anticipated generally.

"It would seem to me," he said, "that the test of necessity for revision is in the main whether there has been a substantial slackening of activity in an industry during the past few years, and a consequent decrease in employment due to insurmountable competition in the products of that industry. It is not as if we were setting up a new basis of protective duties. We did that seven years ago. What we need to remedy now is whatever substantial loss of employment may have resulted from shifts since that time."

The chief difficulty encountered in the administration of the flexible provisions of the Fordney-McCumber act of 1922, the president suggested, is it takes the tariff commission too long to reach its conclusions.

Suggested changes in the administrative phases of the existing law should be directed chiefly Hoover said, to finding a formula for eliminating over-evaluation by foreign shippers whose books are not open to inspection by United States customs officials, and for protecting domestic industry against evasions by foreign shippers who direct their goods to their own subsidiaries in this country for processing.

BISHOP HUGHES OF CHICAGO TO ADDRESS CEDARVILLE SENIORS

five or six years ago when he was transferred to the Chicago area.

The house which was filled to its capacity was the largest that ever witnessed an entertainment during the history of the school. Because of popular request the performance will be repeated Friday night, May 10.

"We wish to strongly urge upon our customers and especially upon all persons who are indebted to this bank, the necessity of carrying windstorm insurance. Its cost is not prohibitive; it is too cheap to do without.

"This matter is worthy of your immediate attention as we think that the time is not far distant when all institutions making loans will require the carrying of windstorm insurance as well as fire insurance as an essential prior qualification for the extension of credit."

Let us tell you how little it would cost to insure your property in The Travelers, the largest multiple-line insurance organization in the world.

All Prominent Banks Recommend This

"We wish to strongly urge upon our customers and especially upon all persons who are indebted to this bank, the necessity of carrying windstorm insurance. Its cost is not prohibitive; it is too cheap to do without."

"This matter is worthy of your immediate attention as we think that the time is not far distant when all institutions making loans will require the carrying of windstorm insurance as well as fire insurance as an essential prior qualification for the extension of credit."

Let us tell you how little it would cost to insure your property in The Travelers, the largest multiple-line insurance organization in the world.

KONJOLA ENDS ELEVEN YEARS OF SUFFERING

Stomach Almost Ruined By Medicines Taken To Relieve Rheumatism and Neuritis

"I can not find words to express my gratitude for Konjola, nor my amazement at the way it relieved me after eleven years of dreadful suffering from neuritis and rheumatism," said Mrs. A. J. Tipton, 215 Oak Street, Ludlow.

"To add to my pain, my stomach was almost ruined by the strong medicines I took in the hope of relieving the rheumatism and neuritis. These wrecked my digestive system, but did not do the least bit of good. My entire body was a mass of aches and pains.

MRS. A. J. TIPTON

"When Konjola was recommended to me I was inclined to scoff, for I had no more faith in medicines. But friends insisted. The result was simply wonderful. My stomach was strengthened so that I could digest anything. I feared that this relief might be only temporary, but months have passed and the magnificent health that Konjola restored to me is with me yet. No wonder Konjola is known as the master medicine, and I recommend it from the bottom of my happy heart."

Konjola is different from any other known remedy in this section. It contains 22 juices extracted from natural plants, which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to a more healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that has been going on for years. At the same time, many weak and run-down systems have been restored to a new state of health thru this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical product, until now, Konjola is the most highly indorsed medicine that is known in this vicinity.

Konjola is sold in Xenia at the Gallaher Drug Store, and by all the best druggists throughout this entire section. —Adv.
